Learn about our Integrated Adult and Child Psychoanalytic Training Program

Listen to a presentation by Christian Churchill, PhD, LP, FIPA:

“An Integrated Approach to Practice: How a Sociologist Became a Psychoanalyst”

Psychoanalytic training helps us cultivate a capacity for listening and a faculty for empathy unique to analytic practice. This allows our patients a chance to achieve substantive change seldom offered by other forms of therapy.

An analyst will describe how his clinical work is informed by his earlier training in sociology, and how a unique theory of ethnography helps him to listen empathically and better understand his patients' obstacles to growth.
